

Connecting Colorado Springs to the world, one meal at a time.

Be a World Dinner Host for International Visitors!

Our international guests want to share an authentic American meal in an American household. During their visit to the United States these guests are in formal meetings throughout the week; unwind with them at the dinner table.

What better way to share and learn about culture than over a meal?

Tips for a great dinner –

- Before meeting your dinner guests, we will send you relevant information about the visitors.
- Learn about their country and culture by going to www.state.gov/countries.
- Invite your friends who work in the visitors' field or other guests who may enjoy meeting international dignitaries.
- Unless otherwise noted, you may offer alcohol however be considerate of cultural norms.
- You will be notified of any dietary restrictions and food allergies.
- A fancy meal is not expected from the visitor; cook what you like!
The average American meal will offer a true view of our culture.
- If possible, take a picture to commemorate the event and share it with Colorado Springs World Affairs Council.
